A PAIN (PANE?) IN THE EYE-These long abandoned hothouses in the southeastern sector of Daly City off East Market street offer an inviting challenge to rock tossing youth. Two developers have proposed building low cost housing complex units for senior citizens on the sites, but federal approval on these proposals is pending.

Foley Leaves SSA Post

The San Mateo office of the Social Security Administration hasn't had a new face in its director's office since May, 1942, when the staff of three greeted 34-year-old Edwin J. Foley

Last Friday a 65-year-old Ed Foley left his Spartan office at 2211 Palm Avenue for the last time and head for retire-

Foley, who has been with Social Security since 1936, just after its inception, said yesterday he has no "definite plans" for his retirement but that there's gardening to be done after the heavy rains and maybe trav-

The Vancouver, Wash., native saw his first government service in 1918 when as a boy he carried special delivery mail. During the Great Depression he held several office jobs and finally landed for several months in 1936 with the U.S. Veterans Administra-

In 1935 Congress had passed the Social Security Act, which for the first time made the elderly citizen eligible for financial assistance from the government, a move thought by some to be highly socialistic at

Foley joined one of the new Social Security Administration training classes in October. 1936, in Washington, D.C., and soon after that agency went into operation Jan. 1, 1937. he was in the New York City office.

There followed a few months in Syracuse. N.Y., before coming to California later in 1937 to help organize the Eureka office. Two years in Salem, Ore., followed and it was back to Eureka as district manager and then, in 1942, to San Mateo.

He had all of San Mateo County then. With the postwar population growth and additional workload, the San Mateo district now stretches only from San Bruno south to Redwood City.

What's the achievement he's proudest of in the past 31 years?

"Over-all, the biggest thing I feel is that we signed up 98 per cent of the eligible peo-ple over 65 in this service area for Medicare," he said.

The office staff temporarily zoomed to 45 when the new Johnson Administration program was inaugurated six years ago.

'We tried to reach 20 million old people in this country with the Medicare program, but I suppose there are a few we missed,"

"People do sign up for these programs now," Foley said, recalling that of some 900,000 estimated eligibles in 1940, only 350,000 were found to have filed for benefits.

That was the year Social Security paynents began and Foley's figures show $4.1 million a month paid to 223,000 elderly and eligible survivors in the nation.

The 1971 figures show $3 billion a month vent to 27.3 million people, including disaoled persons under 65 years old who were added to the benefits program in 1957. This year 1.7 million and their dependents also will become eligible for Medicare this

Some 65 000 Social Security recipients in the San Mateo area are paid approximately $100 million a year, Foley said.

Foley has been president of the county Mental Health Association and the county chapter of the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association and served on the boards of several other public and private agencies. For just keeping busy "I have lots of connections," he said.

He is still on the Bay Area Social Planning Council and on the county's Committee on Aging technical advisory committee.

Foley's replacement will be Miss Margaret Tang, a Daly City resident who for the past year has been district manager of the Hayward Social Security office. She takes over officially next Monday.

eral public will be able to view an exhibition of child art on the mall of Serramonte Shopping Center through March 11.

Work by students of the Jefferson Elementary School District will be featured in this year's bi-annual exhibition. The display, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Cordell. J.E.S.D. art consultant. was selected from work at each of the district's 18 elementary schools. and three seventh and eighth grade intermediate schools. Visitors to the exhibition will view a colorful array of art works, including rambling murals in bold exciting colors, depicting everyday activities of the students themselves. and people of other lands; stitchery pieces, the result of tiny but filled with yarn or thread to give shape and meaning to scraps of fabric; the clay of mother earth changed by eager hands to useful and decorative pottery objects; mosaics made from broken tile, assorted metal and wood scraps, seeds and cereal edibles, and seemingly useless discarded scrap materials; drawings and paintings showing everything from neighborhood homes done from life to explosive creations done strictly from imagination: printmaking, the art of reproducing a design or picture from linoleum or wood or vegetables.

The resurgence of the crafts and the importance of the craftsman in the contemporary art scene will be reflected in beautifully executed weavings leather. Here are items of good design which find use in the home or for personal adornment - for in crafts, emphasis is placed upon the total process from initial design, to the workmanship which involves coordination between hand and eye, to the finished piece. Once more it can be seen from the variety of materials used in frequently surprising combinations, that students invent uses for materials. Scrap materials which would appear to many to have no further use, are changed or used in vital and attractive art pieces; hence, an exciting and valuable program can be maintained in the schools at little expense

Good morning, good cooks.

Since we've been advised to eat more cheese in order to try to accommodate our budgets to the rising cost of food, this first recipe for a cheese and mushroom omelet is a delicious accommodation.

GOURMET FRENCH OMELET

- 1 21/2-oz. jar mushrooms, drained 3 tablespoons margarine
- 6 eggs, slightly beaten
- One-third cup milk
- Salt and pepper

 1 teaspoon finely chopped chives

 34 cup (3 ozs.) shredded Sharp Natural Cheddar Cheese

Cook the mushrooms in 1 tablespoon margarine until tender. Melt the remaining two tablespoons margarine in skillet over low heat. Combine the six slightly beaten eggs with the one-third cup milk, salt and pepper; pour in skillet. Cook slowly. As egg mixture sets. lift slightly with spatula to allow uncooked portion to flow underneath. Cover omelet with the mushrooms, one teaspoon chives and ½ cup cheese; fold in half and sprinkle with remaining cheese.

Three to four servings.

For a different lunch, try these bean sandwiches. Easy to make, delicious and high in food value.

BAKED BEAN SANDWICH

- 1 can (1 lb.) baked beans
- 6 slices rye bread
- Butter, softened
- 6 tablespoons catsup
- 6 triangles Cheddar cheese, approx. 4x11/2-inches

12 slices bacon, partially cooked

Partially cook the twelve slices bacon and set aside. In small saucepan, heat beans; drain if necessary. Meanwhile preheat broiler. Toast and butter the six slices bread. To assemble sandwiches; covered each slice bread with about one-fourth cup baked beans: then one tablespoon catsup and a triangle of cheese Cross two strips of bacon on top of each sandwich. Place under broiler 1 to 2 minutes until cheese melts and bacon is browned; serve immediately.

These Bake-Off winning cookies do not come under the heading of low calorie but they are so good that it's well worth the extravagance in calories

OATMEAL CARMELITAS

- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 cup quick-cooking oats 34 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 34 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1 cup (6-oz. Pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans or walnuts 34 cup caramel ice cream topping
- 3 tablespoons flour

In large mixer bowl combine the one cup flour. one cup rolled oats, three-fourths cup brown sugar, one-half teaspoon soda and one-fourth teaspoon salt and three-fourths cup melted butter. Blend well at low speed to form crumbs. Press half of crumbs into bottom of 11x7-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 10

Remove from oven. Sprinkle with the one cup chocolate pieces and half cup nuts. Blend the threefourths cup caramel topping with the three tablespoons flour; pour caramel mixture back and forth over chocolate and pecans to cover. Sprinkle with the remaining crumb mixture.

Continue baking for 15 to 20 minutes until golden brown. Chill 1 to 2 hours. Cut into bars.

TIP: Carmelitas may be baked in 9-inch square pan as directed above.

CORRECTION: The amount of chopped onion called for in the Parmesan Bnrger Casserole is 1/4 cup.

Terra Nova Topics

- By DENISE BARR

Sharon Spencer, Terra Nova's girls' physical education teacher of three-and-a-half years, has had a lot to do with the changing scene of the girls' P.E. program.

No longer do the girls have just modern dance, volleyball, bandminton and softball. Miss Spencer has brought Balkan dance and yoga into the program. Right now Miss Krolick and Miss Treadway are teaching girls self-defense. Flag football and water exercises have also been brought into the list of girls' P.E. activities.

Yoga and Balkan dancing are two of Miss Spencer's own personal activities that she enjoys. She spent one summer traveling through the Balkan countries, where she learned many dances from the different countries. Before she begins a class on Balkan dance, she shows the girls various dolls dressed in traditional dance costumes. and a map of the Balkan countries showing where various dances originated. Balkan dance has become a very popular class.

Before the yoga class started. Miss Spencer talked about the history of yoga and the various types of yoga. The class went on as a learning - by - doing type program.

All of the girls' P.E. teachers should be credited with the adoption of the new program. They could have just sat back and let the students complain that P.E. was monotonous and boring. But now, girls get to try new and different activities.

You've got a hit in your hands! We're talking about the Want Ad section of today's Times. If you'll pardon us for showing you our clippings, we hit 351,409 ads last year . . . a record run of result-producing performance that reached daily audiences of over 129,000 and drew rave reviews from those of you who caught our act.

In 1972 THE TIMES also published a RECORD BREAKING amount of Classified Lineage . . . 4,715,382 Lines and The Weekly Newspapers — The SAN BRUNO PUBLICATIONS and THE POST also reached a new all time high of 2,011,226 lines, making a combined total of

6,726,608 Lines

If all the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players then certainly one of the better scenes in this universal production has to be the Want Ads, because no other advertising medium can match the far-reaching availability to so many of these "actors."

To those of you who took part in the big show last year, we ask you to step up and take a bow as we thank you for making our year a success. And we then extend to those others to join the cast this year as we "go on with the show" with high hopes of extending our run to new records in 1973!

A Bit of Americana

Here is a bit of Americana

The Udall family of Arizona is said to have held more public offices than any family in that state's

In the evenings when the founder, David K. Udall. was sick with his yearly attack of influenza, he would gather his children and grandchildren and read to them from a battered copy of an American history text. By so doing he fired his posterity with patriotism. and with a desire to serve that carried some to the legislature, some to the Arizona State Supreme Court and two of them to the halls of congress. One of these two became a member of a president's cabinet.

Pioneer Udall's practice recalls the words of

Ralph Waldo Emerson:

Not gold, but only men can make A nation great and strong: Men who for truth and honor's sake, Stand fast and suffer long.

Brave men who work while others sleep Who dare while others shy,

They build a nation's pillars deep And lift them to the sky.

Reading America's history and sampling its literature of self-analysis is a practice recommended to every American. It is a thrill to hear Walt Whitman murmur. "Here is not merely a nation but a teeming nation of nations . . . Here is the hospitality which forever indicates heroes.

It is a pleasure to witness Theodore Roosevelt riding out of the west where he had gone for his health and where he acquired a new creed and a sense of what democracy needs from its citizens. "I believe in honesty, sincerity, and the square deal; in making up one's mind what to do -- and doing it.

I believe in fearing God and taking one's own part. believe in hitting the line hard when you are believe in hard work and honest sport.

believe in a sane mind in a sane body. I believe we have room for but one soul loyalty. and that is loyalty to the American people.

It is refreshing to hear Astronaut Neil Armstrong speak for the post World War II generation. Responding to challenge is one of democracy's greatest strengths. Our success in space leads to hope that this strength can be used in the next decade in the solution of many of our planet's problems.

It is rewarding to contemplate great moments, for example when Benjamin Franklin. John Adams and Thomas Jefferson met to design the great seal for the United States they had helped to form or hear Franklin D. Roosevelt outline his four freedoms, or watch Woodrow Wilson bring hope to Europe's weary millions, or see Washington literally suffer for democracy as he planned the campaigns of the revolution.

Reading United States history can be an exercise in realizing the importance of each American. "Each American is like a mosaic piece needed to complete the perfect design which is the ideal America," wrote Ether York.

THERE ARE MANY good histories to read, many collections of American thought. One of the latest is Ideals latest volume. "Our Heritage." With pictures and words it inspires readers tore ally learn about

Enchanting Adjective

NEW YORK - Enchanting is a difficult adjective to apply these days. Hardly anything is.

Until last week when it served as a lesser descriptive word for the charm, grace, wit and beauty of the romantic new musical "A Little Night Music" at the Shubert Theatre.

Recent musicals have served special tastes from the campy ('Applause'), boistrous ('Hello Dolly), conservative (1775), nostalgic, (No. No Nannette') to jaded sophisticate (Follies'). Now, in wafts an eloquent and elegant turn-of-the-century comedy that has musical, literary, scenery and cast_merits to delight everyone.

Full of fools and lovers, it borrows from Ingmar Bergman's 1955 movie classic. "Smiles of a Summer Night," and is set amid a graceful silver birch grove where bedrooms slid in and out to accommodate the amorous pursuits of a trio of partners that segments into unpredictable patterns as the rueful comedy unfolds.

In this bucholic setting where lovely ladies all in long white organza gowns dally with their parasols before a country chateau, hanky panky is contemplated with mischievuous giggles and saucy kicking of ruffled trains. Its every scene is measured by impeccable taste and serene beguilment.

The story begins with a chorus of five chamber music singers and a delicate little piano to which they begin their prologue. The plot doesn't thicken until we've met a wordly wise grandmother (Hermione Gingold) tutoring her sweet teenage granddaughter (Judy Kahan) about life and morals.

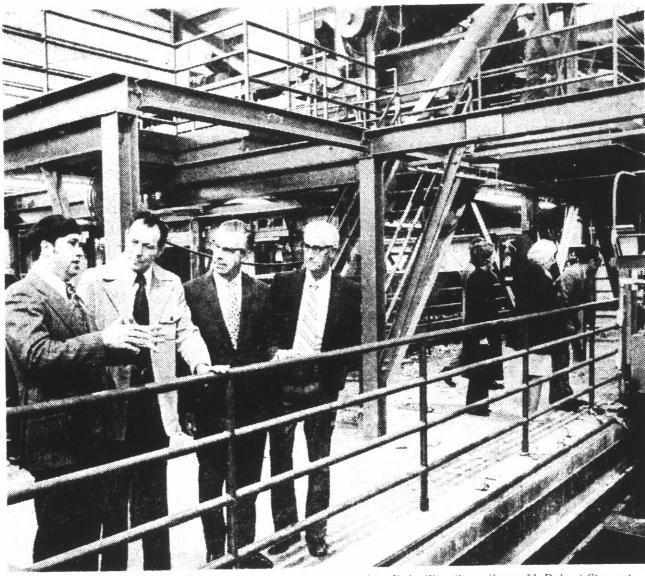

'Don't press your bosoms so close to the chair. my dear. You'll flatten them.

Later she sighs dejectedly. "To lose one's lover, a husband or two in one's life can be vexing. But to lose one's teeth is catastrophic." all in that inimitable Gingold style.

It seems that the middle generation mother (Glynis Johns) is an actress and something of a mistress among men. Her constant stage tours bring her home to the family circle only in emergency. And when her current lover (Laurence Guittard who is from San Francisco) encounters her former lover (Len Cariou) in her dressing room but in his nightshirt, emergency action is required.

Everyone is invited to a weekend in the country at the family estate, to which both lovers, their respective wives (Patricia Elliott and Victoria Mallory) and children and servants attend. Trysts ensue on the lawn, behind the statuary, and door, in the garden, near the barn, beside the lake. There is hostility, a duel, vicious backbiting, arrogant arguments, timorous kisses, luring smiles, outrageous flirting and an abortive suicide attempt. And it's all such fun and games.

Recycling 'Palace' in Operation

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Leonard Stefanelli, president of the Sunset Scavenger Co.npany, cails the new multi-milliondollar refuse reclamation facility near Brisbone "My Palace of Garbage

"It's just to nice a building to call it a garbage house, so we decided to name it the "Palace' Stefanelli explained last week as he showed off the latest addition to the huge structure which handles more than 2000 tons of San Francisco garbage every

Together with John Moscone president of Golden Gate Disposal, and Carl Sexton, head of Los Angeles By-Products. Inc. Stefanelli told of the wonders of the new $750,000 system added to his "Palace" that is able to magnetically separate tin cans ara other ferrous metals from plain o'd everyday householl

The metals are then shipped to smeltering plants and recycled back to the oublic again.

Soon there will be another addition to the facility - a system canable of plucking glass out of the mess dumped by the scavenger's fleet of trucks that service the city and his organization were in a tooth and nail battle with Brisbane over dumping of San Francisco's garbage on their doorstep. The scavengers had to find another place to dump or refuse would pile up in the streets.

Only five years ago Stefanelli

After months of searching. they signed an agreement with Mountain View to dump and cover on tidelands -site of a future public park.

The scavergers could not economically run their small garbage collection trucks between San Francisco and Mountain View A collection center had to be built in an area convenient to the trucks, the scavengers' permanent operation on Tunnel Road (straddling the San Francisco and San Mateo County line), and the Bayshore Freeway for highway access. Stefarelli said.

Stefanel'i envisioned an "open end" sort of facility that could hardle the gargage tossed out by San Franciscans daily and also would allow for expansion into the reclamation of metals. bottles and paper products at a later date

The end result was a multilevel structure costing more than $1 million completed in

Officials of the private companies that operate the center term the new installation the world's largest solid waste proc essing center

And they no longer call themseives "garbagemen.

The acceptable title nowadays in "Solid Waste Management Technicians," according to Stefanelli

The new addition is able to handle 100 tons of refuse an hour with tin can recovery estimated at five tons per hourinitially more than half a milion cans plus other ferrous metals per day - with reserve capacity to double its output. Stefanelli said the new addition for recovery of cans "is a significant example of how by cooperation between the public envirormental control program can be achieved."

The Scavenger company president made a pitch for other cities to bring their refuse to the mammoth facility when he told representatives from North Peninsula cities "this system is capab'e of handling many more tons of garbage" and volume would decrease the cost of oper-

Remember The Old Line!

REMEMBER THE OLD LINE: "Things are tough all over. Chorus girls are kicking. Subways are down in a hole. Even the windows have panes?" Well, that's how I always approach this column. Negatively! And why not? After all, who really takes a positive approach to anything anymore? Certainly not the mass

THE NEWS COLUMNISTS, my fellow "effete snobs" as Veep Agnew likes to call us. forecast Doomsday in everything they write. They pick up any nut who predicts an earthquake and make an overnight hero out of the guy. If they say something isn't going to work by gawd it isn't going to work and that's all there is to it! Never mind what the experts say. What do they know? After all, they are coming up against a Newsman.

I. FOR ONE, am fed up with these self-centered egotists who make copy out of dummies who run about shouting at the top of their lungs that the end is near. I've had that feeling since the day I was born, slightly more than forty-odd (very odd) years ago.

IF WE had to single out a typical example of what we are trying to say here it would be the Bay Area Rapid Transit critics who are hell-bent-for-leather that that system just isn't going to work. Nosiree, and don't try to tell them any different.

FOR EIGHT YEARS we've watched BART. Watched and waited. Patiently watched while homes were uprooted in Daly City, while tunnels the critics said would fail were laid and did not fail, while track was laid in places were tracks would never go according to the critics.

A train hit a sandpile at the end of track in Hayward, and, oh my, did the press have a field day. The TV folks gave on the spot accounts and a whole can of worms was opened. This proved BART wouldn't work, the critics shouted. So how come many people in the East Bay still ride the system to and from work everyday? How come I see with my own two beady little bloodshot eyes a station being built in Daly City? Tracks being laid, equipment going in?

POINT IS, some people Don't want BART to work. These are the people who predict the $1.4 billion system — the most modern yet devised anywhere in the world - will fall flat on its face. But the cost (outrageous perhaps) is the key to why it will be a success. You can bet your bottom buck that no one is going to shrug off the project at this late date - not with that much money in the pot.

We're betting BART will work and that it will provide an economical and environmentally acceptable method of travel for young, old and me.

EVER ONWARD - P. T. Chen and assistant Maurice Wahba, top brass at Westlake Development Inc. they're the new owners of the Westlake Shopping ('enter) will host an informal cocktail party next Monday night between 5-7 p.m. at the Skyliner Restaurant for merchants of their stores.

MIND BOGGLER - The person who has appeared to be Colma Mayor Raymond Ottoboni's biggest and loudest critic at public meetings in recent years told petitioners asking the recall of Ottoboni she will not participate in the issue. And she has given strict orders to other members of her family to do likewise. The Shadow has been so informed.

WHAT WOULD THE WEEK be without something from the Jefferson Elementary School District? It would be swell, that's what it would be. The latest brouhaha now centers around a black principal at one of the schools who, it is claimed, just isn't hacking it with the kids, parents, teachers, et al. Coming to his aid is NAACP official Madge Bradstreet, who at a recent school board meeting accused the "lily white" school board of trying to railroad the principal strictly on the basis of his race. But what haunts my mind is that we personally talked to two certificated subordinates of the principal who had strongly criticized him. Both are black.

THE JESD WILL discuss the matter at a public hearing tonight at 8 at the city hall, 90th and Sullivan streets. Daly City.

YOU READ IT RIGHT HERE months ago - that D.C. mayor Bud Lycett would step down as mayor. He officially announced it last Friday night at the Fifth Annual Employees Dinner. Lycett will remain on the council, however, and we're betting he will run again come April 1974.

SO WHAT EVER HAPPENED to former Westlake owner Jim Trevor? Glad you asked. Seems Jim is winging into the sunset to meet his wife halfway around the world. You see, she's going by ship and Jim. hopefully, is flying in a plane.

THE DALY CITY REDEVELOPMENT committee self destructed in 18 months. But it was supposed to die a natural death in two years, the council of Daly City said. In what undoubtedly is the first time in the history of politics, an appointed body, almost to a person, elected to dissolve itself. The thought that such a thing could happen makes the mind reel.

George Smith said the committee had done its work in gathering facts for the city council-redevelopment agency. Former councilman. Ed Dennis, agreed And all but one man agreed. So shed a tear for the 24 member panel that was - they saw their duty and done it! Now redevelopment is in the hands of the city. It is expected that another committee - this time from within the target area itself - will be appointed by the city. As it should be!

MARK THE DATE - The annual Broadmoor Police Dance will be held April 14 at Colombo Hall with Gus Gustofson and His Band what am belting out those good sounds. Tickets can be purchased from any Broadmoor cop or call 755-3840 and simply say, "I'm a silly (Ray) Savage booster and want to dance.

You will get an immediate response — either from (1) some guys in white uniforms carrying a funny looking jacket, or (2) some guys in blue carrying your tickets It's all for a very worthy cause.

DC Man Collects Mail From Famous Persons

REYNALDO REYES looks over his collection of letters from famous persons.

Like many a new recruit in a far away Army post, Reynaldo Reyes of Daly City, a native of the Philippines was very lonely. Unlike many others Reves did not visit the PX bars or the movies or the day room card games. In 1965 he sat on his bunk in Fort Dix and wrote letters to famous people all over the world. He had just read an article about the president of the United States replying to a He received a reply and immediately started out on a hobby which teday has amassed him a remarkable collection of letters from the famous of the world. He spends at least $100 a year on stamps.

Reves who graduated this month from Skyline College in San Bruno, plans to go to California State University in San Francisco to major in health sciences.

"It takes a lot of perseverance to get a letter. Sometimes I have to mail about one dozen to get a replay," said Reyes, "You just can't ask a man for his autograph. You have to read up on his past. You can't congratulate a man for doing a good job on some issue when you know that he isn't. They can sense a false approach. You must find something in which to have a common ground.

Joe Gaggero Sr. Is Honored

Joe Gaggero Sr., who at one period in his life had SAL Devils 14, SAL Tigers 10: sored by the Daly City Recreative guts and patience to be my sandlot-semi-pro baseball manager, was recently honored at the annual Northern California Umpires Banquet. I've written about Joe in other columns, I've called him the best sandiot manager the Bay Area has ever known, and the best semi-pro umpire who ever donned a chest protector in Northern California (with the possible exception of his son, Joe, Jr., who played for Commerce High, led the way to victory with 13 Cal. in the Yankee Farm system, and is now a San and 10 points respectively. I've never been able to say any of it any better, however, than veteran semi-pro player and umpire Dick Code did in the presentation of Gaggero at the banquet. Following, thus, is most of the text of Code's speech:

"Ladies and gentlemen, one of the truisisms of this world is that most of the time the people who do the Al Portillo scored 11 while Mike most for people or causes are generally over-looked Simon chipped in 9 for the God- when praise is given. > "IN HIS YOUTH he wasn't a great third baseman. Like many of us, he couldn't hit the curve ball. He could knock down anything he could reach, however. When his playing days were over, he took to managing.

This is when his greatness first appeared. At first he had the kids. He didn't try to teach these kids how to steal games. No, he taught them the fundamen-War Memorial Building instead tals. He taught them to think. If the ball is hit to me, where will I go with it: When he went to the older players he taught them to hustle, make the opposition make mistakes by applying pressure at all times, never let up, and take advantage of these mistakes. He, himself, could out-think, out-guess the other managers most of the time because he worked at his avocation. He knew what the percentages were and how to execute to take advantage. He would take a win any way he could but would never try to take unfair advantage of an apponent. His philosophy typifies this man: 'Give me one run, the other guy needs two to beat me.

CCS TITLE GAME

Vikings 'Side Show' Entertains Riordan

The Regents weren't rubes, but they got taken anyway, 75-48. Their sins were twofold: one, they didn't shoot well; two, they were born small. Small, that is, compared with the Vikings of Mills High Thursday.

Serramonte, which had scrambled its way to a 22-3 season record, tried presses and zones which were of little use. The first time Mills had the ball guard Kevin Harvey calmly popped one in from the top of the key, knowing that if he missed some Viking was sure to get the rebound.

The Regents got more offensive rebounds than they had a right to (they were "only" outrebounded 45-33 for the game), but they weren't making their shots, so the whole statistic was rather academic. NPL Most Valuable Player Kirk Dove was just a fraction off on his shots; they'd roll around the rim for a minute or two and sail harmlessly away. Serramonte shot 20-66, Mills 26-53.

Dove ended up with six points. Forward Pete Jurand led the Regents with 12.

Mills' Weaver grabbed off 14 rebounds before he left the game early in the third quarter. He scored 10. Fellow forward Del-Fante had 13. The 6-7 MacKenzie, standing five inches taller than Regent pivotman Cornell Williams, sailed into the basket for 12 points in the third quarter alone, ending up as the game's leading scorer with 17.

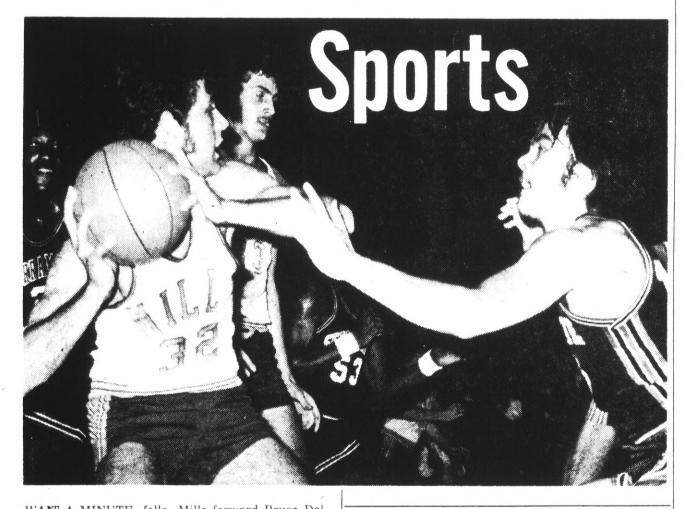

MacKenzie won't have as much of an advantage tonight. Riordan's 6-5 center Elmer Love is the backbone of everything the Crusaders do, and he's been effective against centers measuring up to 6-6. Ht's led Riordan's almost fanatic board effort (he go: 31 rebounds) against Serra in two playoff Riordan is hot now. The Crusaders have won four straight, including their playelf triumphs, and ousted Serra, a team that had won ten in a row to make the playoffs.

The Crusaders are the only WCAL team that likes to run. The style works well, because they're quick and shoot well. They excel at the smothering detense endemic to

There is also the small matter of psychology, the myth of Catholic league superiority, to be faced. Milis may not be affected by it, but most Mid-Peninsula League teams have, and usually for good reason.

There has been a large pre-sale for the game, but such tickets as remain will go on sale at 7.

son community in the so-called 'saddle area" of the mountain.

Wednesday morning in a split vote of the five-member LAFCO panel it was decided the mountain - considered to be the largest bloc of undeveloped property in an urban area in the state - should be assigned to Brisbane's sphere of influence for development purposes.

A small area on the northwest side of the mountain would come under Daly City. A quarry near Brisbane and several hundred acres owned by Westbay Associates on the southeast side would remain under county jurisdiction for the time being.

However, the sought-after Crocker Industrial Park, which Brisbane has serviced with police and firemen for many years. will be annexed to the bayside city - now one of the largest cities in area in the county.

Had the mountain gone to Daly City the financial impact on Brisbane would have been devastating, B. Sherman Coffman, executive director of LAFCO, Assignment to Daly City would have also made that North San Mateo County city the largest in population and area - stretching from the Pacific Ocean to the bay.

Coffman offered four alternatives to LAFCO board. But he recommended only one - that the county maintain control of the mountain for planning purposes and that Brisbane control all development.

Those small areas handed over to Daly City merely straightened a few corners on the property line, one Daly City official pointed out.

About one-third of the mountain, southerly of the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway, will be ded eated open space and park lands. This arrangement was worked out in months of meetings between Crocker's Frank Calton and various government agencies and conservationist groups around the Bay Area.

The LAFCO decision came after more than 90 minutes of open debate on the issue following the reading of Coffman's recommendation.

Coffman said, that, on the surface it appeared his report ran contrary to an earlier report prepared by Development Research Associates costing some $10,000 which recommended Daly City merge with Brisbane and together they annex the CHOPE COMMUNITY HOSPITAL as it looked in 1930.

Hospital's History

The first step toward the eventual construction of a general hospital for the poor of San Mateo County was taken in 1918 when the then Board of Supervisors bought 22 acres of land in San Mateo off what is now 37th Avenue as a site for a future hospital.

Cost of the land was $1,000 an acre.

The cornerstone of the hospital was laid on May 16, 1919. The first phase of the hospital was completed in 1923 at a cost of $160,000. A power plant cost another $31,000. The facility began with 89 beds.

The only other hospital in the county at that time was Mills Memorial Hospital, also located in San Mateo. a city of some 6,000 persons. The county's population was then about 40,000.

The cost per patient day at that time was estimated to be just under $2.

After these modest beginnings, the hospital, known as Community Hospital, began to grow rapidly to meet the needs of an expanding area.

In 1934, an east wing was completed which added 51 beds to the total. In 1952, the communicable disease ward was remodeled. adding another 12 beds. for a total capacity of 152 beds.

Four years later, the new west wing of the facility opened adding 28 psychiatric beds and 114 more acute beds. The new wing also included a kitchen, dining room, emergency room, laundry, laboratories, surgeries. recovery room, record room, administrative offices. X-ray and business offices.

During this period of greatest growth in the mid-fifties, the chief administrator for the county's Public Health and Welfare Department was Dr. Harold Chope.

In 1962, the name was changed to San Mateo County General Hospital.

In 1965, a bond issue was passed by the voters authorizing the Board of Supervisors to spend over $6 million to improve the hospital. The money was not spen, however. A series of studies was made to deter-from the outside. In 1970, the name of the place was again changed, this time to Harold D. Chope Communi y Hospital.

In November of that year. Dr. Chope retired and he was replaced by Dr. George Fickett.

Even though the hospital no longer handles births, its range of other services is nonetheless extensive.

Combined with the most varied set of social services and the most inclusive out-partient clinic in the county, the hospital is also geared to handle a number of special surgeries. including: Neuro-surgery; orthopedic surgery: plastic surgery; and others. In the plastic surgery category, the expertise of the staff can be shown in the fact that between 15 and 20 complicated sexchange operations were performed in 1972

Those unique operations were performed under the auspices of specialists from Stanford University and all cos's were borne by the individual patients themselves.

The hospital is also equipped with a 24-hour emergency room (the only one of its kind in the county), laboratories. X-ray facilities, an isolation ward unlike any other in the coun'y, a comprehensive psychiatric ward and a staff of in-house physicians a d surgeons which includes specialists in almost every major medical field.

Patients come to Chope from every part of the county

According to a December 1971 study. nearly half of the out-patients using Chope came from San Mateo. Redwood City and East Menlo Park.

Here are the city-by-city percentage figures from that study: Brisbane. 6: Daly City, 5.8; South San Francisco, 5.5; Pacifica, 3.5; San Bruno, 5.1; Millbrae, 1.1; Burlingame. 3.5; Hil'sborough. .4; San Maten. N. County Officials In Washington

Officials of three North County cities are in Washington. D.C., this week, as part of a nationwile effort to halt cutbacks of federal funds which aid local

They are also taking the opportunity to press for aid on a number of specific local problems.

Among those in the nation's capital are Pacifica Mayor Grace McCarthy, Millbrae Mayoor Bernie Esser and his city administrator Richard Watson, and South San Francisco Vice-Mayor Warren Steinkamo, his city manager Gale Dreisbach and finance director Edward Al-

They are attending the annual congressional meeting of the National Council of Mayors and League of Cities.

They are particularly concerned over the fate of various pecialists who are employed by e cities under the Emergency Employment Act, threatened with extinction. Most major city departments have been benefitby these employes. South Sm Francisco has 16 such empl ves: Pacifica has 14. Many of se so employed are of minorty races. In addition, other moloves are employed under ther federal programs.

Willbrae Mayor Esser will be making a special plea in behalf property owners whose proprties are being threatened by landslides in the hill areas. Viany of these property owners re hit by inability to collect on their landslide insurance.

Pacifica Mayor McCarthy exressed concern about a federal orram which provides low-inerest loans for rehabilitation of "sing. At least three Pacifica borhoods have been cited as being in need of such rehabitotion. In addition, she will work on the ending of HUD programs which have been aiding purchase and development of Pacifica's mini-parks and Frontieriand city park, which is now threatened with ending.

Another concern of hers is the formula used for federal revenut-sharing, under which Pacifica is receiving far less aid than cities of comparable size beouse of its alleged lack of "taxeffort." In spite of Pacifica hav ing the highest tax-rate in the county, its low assessed valuairn and lack of sales taxes results in its having a small amount of taxes to show for its

South San Francisco Mayor Frank Mammini had appointed Steinkamp to attend as his representative, and then took to ed on doctor's orders from his recurring case of influena-resulting in cancella or of Monday night's city council meeting, for lack of a gorum. The meeting has been reschedeled for this coming Monday night

The South San Francisco coningent plans to work on receiving federal aid for construction of the Colma Flood Control project. The three men have been conferring with Sen. Allen Cranston and his staff, the HUD the Soil Conservation Agency, and Rep. Leo Rvan.

Jail Term For Youth

William Ray Adcock, 18, 615 Canyon Drive, Pacifica has been sentenced to two years fermal probation, and 60 days in San Mateo County Jail, by Municipal Judge Charles Becker, in South San Francisco.

He was convicted of a charge of tampering with a vahiole, a misdemeanor. A felony charge of "rand theft was dismiss"

Adcock had been arrested January 13 by Pacifica Police who alleged that he took 9 1933 Chevrolet from the driver of the home of Ron Fields, 459 Sacramento Terrace, on New Year's Day, drove it to South San Francisco, where he took off the nearly new tires and gave them to a friend. The car. in addition, had been stripped.

Millbrae Meet Delay

Millbrae's next City Council meeting will be on Thursday night. March 8, rather than on a Tuesday evening, becaus Mayor Bernard Esser has been in Washington. Mayor Esser and City Admir istrator Richard Watson are both in the capitol, in an attempt to get some effectiveness out of the governmentsponsored mudslide insurance program. A report on the Mayor's ef-

Times are "good," and spending practices have been poorly managed, and the people demand a change. The change, however, will alter old prerogatives, and while not necessarily expanding executive power will certainly limit that of the legislative branch of government.

> The President and Governor, however, are on the attractive ly perceive public attitudes and When the Governor states that he will go directly to the people with or without support of the legislature, individual senators and assemblymen get the message.

> DURING the recent holiday of Congress, members of both parties were fulsome in their praise of a $250 billion limitation in theory, even though the two houses had failed to jointly adopt an agreed upon bill or resolution on the subject.

> In other words, our legislators, state and federal, are faced with the problem of opposing highly popular reforms. The method of opposition will doubtless include a great deal of nominal agreement with broad principles, and many stentorious speeches about fiscal responsibility. We all face a classic illustration of the long and enduring practice of the loving to death of a disliked proposal.

> Other methods will also be used. Congress, for example has taken the affirmative on the issue of impounded funds. That the practice has been common and has lasted for years with full congressional knowledge and acquiescence makes little difference to those engaged in the attack. The fight is needed in their eyes as a part of the overall struggle with the executive.

> IT WILL be a heady brawl on both the state and federal levels - checking and balancing at its best. It seems, however, that the idea of limitation may win out. The exact form of final constitutional, statutery and conceptual change is not the important thing. Limitation is. and it is an idea whose time has come.

For the people have, indeed, had enough, and that is why the President and Governor make such bold porposals, and why some means of forcing government to manage itself well will probably come to be
